Opening Remarks and Introductions

Chairman Layne opened the meeting. He explained to the audience that the meeting would be conducted as a typical CTB workshop. Typical workshops do not include a Q and A portion or an opportunity for verbal public comment. Comment boxes were available for the public at the front of the theater. He noted that the CTB had arranged this tour at the request of the Town of Ashland at the September CTB meeting, and that the tour would serve as a fact finding mission and that more public meetings would be held in the future after the Draft Environmental Impact Statement (DEIS) is released. He then introduced DRPT's Director Jennifer Mitchell to start the program.

Presentation

Emily Stock gave a project overview presentation. This presentation included information on the timeline of the study and possible alternatives that are being considered. The content of this presentation can be found on the CTB website. John Morton presented additional technical details in the presentation.

Remarks by Local Officials

Mayor of the Town of Ashland James Foley, Hanover Board of Supervisors member Buckey Stanley, and the President of Randolph-Macon College Robert Lindgren were invited by the CTB to each give a 5-minute presentation.

- a. Mayor Foley expressed to the Board that he wanted to go on record as saying that if a third rail is required for the town to continue Amtrak service, they do not want it. They support a bypass around Ashland.
- b. Supervisor Stanley also expressed that Hanover County does not support a third rail. He implored the Board to look again at the Eastern Bypass and at using the Buckingham Branch Railroad. Planning for development in Hanover County has been concentrated on the Eastern side of the county and the Western side has been preserved for farmland.
- c. President Lindgren stated to the Board that the college did not support a third rail and that doing so would cut the campus in half.
